Hazardous Weather

The first week in June will begin with an upper level high pressure ridge building across the Southern Plains. Thunderstorms forming in New Mexico during the afternoon will drift into West Texas this evening.

Hazardous Weather

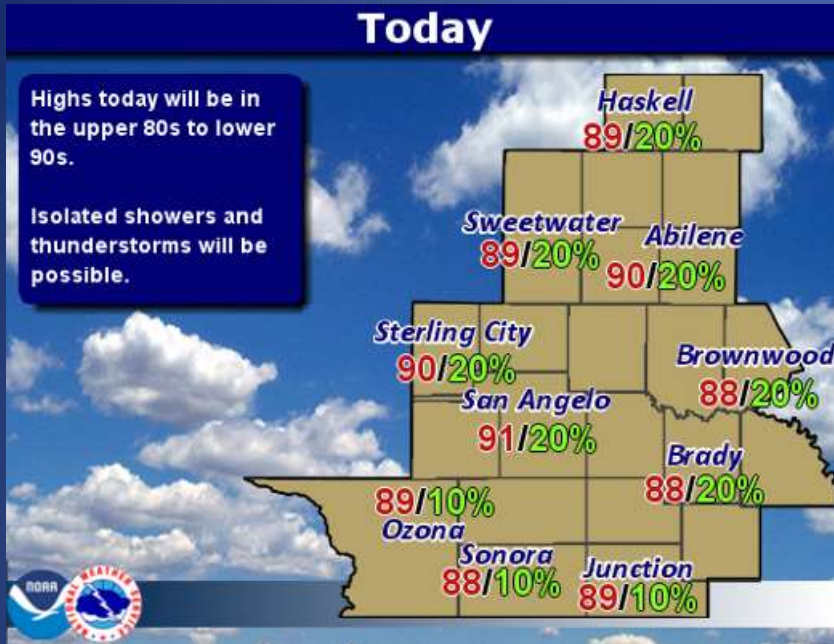

An isolated shower or thunderstorm will be possible today across far southwest Oklahoma and western north Texas. No severe weather expected.

There is a slight chance for isolated thunderstorms this afternoon west of the Interstate 35 corridor. Otherwise, skies will be mostly sunny with high temperatures in the upper 80s and light southeast winds.

Hazardous Weather

Expect partly cloudy skies today with highs in the upper 80s to lower 90s. Isolated showers and thunderstorms will be possible, mainly north of a San Angelo to Brady line.
